Observation, discussion, and writing skills relevant to interpretation and evaluation of choreography will be refined. Through research, analysis, and demonstration, students will develop a deeper understanding of the history and cultures of dance forms and well known choreographers. An in-class showing, a final showcase performance of personally choreographed dances, and a personal dance portfolio will serve to provide measures of student achievement. This course meets the Visual and Performing Art requirement ("F") for admission to the University of California.
