2010-2011 APR System

State Accountability Requirements

Public Schools Accountability Act of 1999

- 2010 Base Academic Performance Index (API) Reports (released May 2011)
- 2011 Growth API Reports (released August 2011)

Federal Accountability Requirements

No Child Left Behind Act of 2001

- 2011 AYP Reports (released September 2011)
- 2011-12 Program Improvement (PI) Reports (released September 2011)
- Program Improvement Status

API: Academic Performance Index

- The API is an accountability measure California uses to determine academic progress in all public schools and school districts.
- The API is computed from the California Standards Tests (CST) in grades 2-11; California High School Exit Exam (CAHSEE) results in grade 10-12 are also included at the high school level.
- The API is a single number computed for each school, each school district, and each numerically significant subgroup* within schools and school districts. This single number is used to measure growth.

A “numerically significant subgroup” (NSS) is defined as at least 50 students who account for 15% or more of the population, or a minimum of 100 students.

API: Academic Performance Index

- The California State Board of Education has set an API goal of 800 for all schools, and all numerically significant subgroups (NSSs) within schools.
- In order to meet this goal, annual API “Growth Targets” are set for all schools and NSSs within schools that have not met the 800 target.

API: Academic Performance Index

- The annual API growth target for a school is 5% of the difference between the school's API and the statewide performance target of 800 with a 5-pt minimum increase. Schools that meet and/or exceed an 800 API are expected to maintain that level of achievement and to continue working to improve the academic performance of all students.

API: Academic Performance Index

- On the CSTs, API points are assigned as follows:
Advanced = 1000
Proficient = 875
Basic = 700
Below Basic = 500
Far Below Basic = 200
- An API of 875, therefore, means that the average student scored “Proficient” on the CSTs.
- The largest drawback for the API as a “growth” measure is that it does not measure the same students over time.

AYP - Adequate Yearly Progress

- By 2013-2014 Academic Year

All schools are expected to meet AYP by having students meet or exceed standards in reading, math, and science.

All schools, districts, and numerically significant subgroups are also required to make AYP each year or significant growth of 10%.

NCLB

AYP - Adequate Yearly Progress

- 2011 Unified School District AYP targets: ELA 67% and Math 67.3%
- Each year, schools and school districts must meet four sets of requirements to make AYP. The requirements include:
 - Student Participation Rate on statewide tests (Participation Rate minimum of 95%)
 - Percentage of students scoring at the proficient or above level in English-Language Arts (ELA) and Mathematics on statewide tests
 - API Growth; (meet or exceed Growth Target)
 - Graduation Rate if high school students are enrolled

"A" means the school scored at or above the statewide performance target of 800 in 2010.

"B" means this is either an LEA or an Alternative Schools Accountability Model (ASAM) school. Schools participating in the ASAM do not currently receive growth, target information, or statewide or similar schools rankings on this report in recognition of their markedly different educational missions and populations served. ASAM schools are covered under the Alternative Accountability system as required by Education Code Section 52052 and not the API accountability system. However, API information is needed to comply with the federal No Child Left Behind (NCLB) law. Growth, target, and rank information are not applicable to LEAs.

"C" means this is a special education school. Statewide and similar schools ranks and API growth targets are not applicable to special education schools.

"D" means this is either an LEA or special education school. Target information is not applicable to LEAs, ASAM schools, or special education schools.

*This report does not include small schools: Home school, CDS, or Canyon Hills.
